

INVITATION
SUSTAINABILITY AND RESILIENCE INTERNATIONAL SCIENTIFIC CONFERENCE

Dear Colleagues and previous Conference Participants,

it is a great pleasure to invite you to the Sustainability and Resilience International Scientific Conference (SRISC), to be held on April 10-11th, 2025.

The SRISC aims to focus on economic and social sciences and related disciplines. The drastic changes in the international and domestic economic environment in the past period present new challenges to the actors, requiring new approaches in the domestic and international environment designed for "normal" economic conditions.

We are looking forward to welcoming the academic and research community to MATE Károly Róbert Campus, Gyöngyös for our conference hosted by Hungarian University of Agriculture and Life Sciences (MATE) Institute of Rural Development and Sustainable Economy.

The conference aims to bring together leading academic scientists, researchers and research scholars to exchange and share their experiences and research results about all aspects of the challenges of the next decades in the field of sustainability and resilience.

In addition to the challenges of the future, the section's meetings focus on the most exciting questions of each scientific field, as well as the most current and challenging areas affecting the profession

Planned topics covered in the sections include:

- i. Resilience and soft skills in education and the labour market in the 21st century.
- ii. Sustainability and resilience in rural and regional development
- iii. Data and Digital Platforms for Resilience
- iv. Agroecology - what's next? - Multifunctionality in agriculture
- v. Sustainable finance
- vi. What next? - The challenges of resilience in tourism
- vii. Innovative HRM services/The challenges of the 21st century's first quarter in the field of human resources
